

,

Fahad Khan made valuable contributions to the project, particularly in the area of JavaScript and frontend development. He successfully implemented a functional slideshow feature, using JavaScript to cycle through images with smooth transitions. The code is clean and efficient, making use of variables to control the slide index and manage the overall slideshow functionality. Fahad also implemented an automatic slide transition every 5 seconds, enhancing the user experience. His solution demonstrates a good understanding of JavaScript and frontend development principles. Overall, Fahad's work on the project significantly improved the functionality and interactivity of the frontend, showcasing his technical skills and attention to detail.